Business Intelligence
Designed to Enhance Business Performance.

FPDA is a distribution-centric collaborative organization dedicated to delivering networking, education, best practices and business intelligence designed to enhance business performance. Our organization has changed with the times, always bringing our members the best in networking opportunities, knowledge, education, and training.

FPDA is an association on the move, representing motion solution providers who offer fluid power, automation, and electro-mechanical technologies and distribution services to enhance customer performance and profitability.

“Professional growth and leadership take effort, it is built from a deep desire to constantly learn, strive for better performance and surrounding yourself with colleagues that can assist you in that journey. There is no better organization that provides this to me as a member.”
